

An accidental homeschooler's journey

LJSkool.com

About the Blog

LJSkool was created to document all the places and things my boys and I have done and seen in the world around us. It isn't just about learning at home, our way, but about living life with ADHD.

My mission is to help moms who bring their kids home from public school know that your child can learn and you can be their best teacher.

I want to encourage other homeschool moms as so many have encouraged me in my walk.

About Me

Jackie Ryan Masek suddenly became a retired software engineer and an accidental homeschooler after withdrawing her oldest son from elementary school. Her youngest has never attended public school. Scott and Jackie have been married for 21 years. The family has lived in Ohio, Indiana, California, and now reside in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Scott is the Facilities Manager of a large metropolitan church. They also have a rescued dog named Cookie.

You already know I love this article. Just wanted to tell you that I loved it enough to feature it in my 5 on the Fifth post (my 5 favorite posts from the past month). - Marcy of BenAndMe.com

This is great. It's more about changing the way we see our children than forcing them to comply. ~ Christie

I love your fb page, it is full of advice and crafts and it has helped me hugely. ~ Samantha
